1. Study tour at Bishnu Pukhuri, Golaghat

Field Study Report: The department of Business Management, Golaghat Commerce College organized a study tour to Bishnu Pukhuri, Chaudang Pathar, Golaghat on dated 24th March 2018. The topic of the Study Tour was “A study on market availability of fish in rural area.” The main reason for choosing chaudang pathar as study tour place is because it a historically significant place of Assam where we found numbers of historical remains like historical monuments, monoliths and historical ponds which were related to Kachari Kingdom during the 12th century. In this place still numbers of historical ponds are there where peoples used to breed and rearing of fish on a large scale. Local people engaged in producing fish in commercial basis and is becoming an important source of income by with which they run their livelihoods and expenditure.

Findings: During the study tour the department conducted a field survey among 20 number of households in chaudang pathar in a systematic manner. We got the outcome that majority of the household produce fish on a large scale for commercial purpose but they did not get as expected price because of lack of availability of organized market, marketing infrastructure and proper information. The study reported that there is ample potential for developing a culture fish production. There is requirement of organized market infrastructure from where the state like Assam can produce and capture a lion market share in national fish markets.

2. Study tour at Padum Pathar on Organic Cultivation, Golaghat

Field Study Report: The department of Business Management, Golaghat Commerce College hold a field study tour with 6th semester students on dated 11th of February 2019 at Padum pathar on the topic “A study on problems and prospect of Organic vegetables market in Golaghat district of Assam. The department had undertaken and choosed this topic because in this area a large number of organic vegetables were produce in a commercial manner where a huge potential for organic market in Golaghat District of Assam. The study was conducted with participated students surveyed those particular farmers who were actual producers’ organic vegetables. From this study it was reported that although farmers were produced organic vegetables but they were facing a marketing problem. The study suggested that there is enough scope for development of organic vegetables and marketing infrastructure. If the NGO, Govt institutions, and corporate agency are thinking towards this line than the producers will be benefited more.
