

FIELD STUDY

On November 5, 2023, Golaghat Commerce College's Geography Department organized a field study to Dhansiri mukh, a flood-prone area in Bokakhat. Eighty students and teachers explored the social and economic challenges faced by the predominantly agricultural community. The journey continued to the Biodiversity Park in Kaziranga, the largest orchid park in Northeast India. This hands-on experience provided practical insights, bridging theoretical knowledge with real-world understanding. The expedition aimed to connect students with the complexities of geographical and ecological landscapes. The lush greenery of the Biodiversity Park served as a canvas for lessons in environmental conservation. The trip, a balance of education and exploration, will undoubtedly leave a lasting impact on the students' perspectives and future effort.
